Collin County's Preferred Provider of Long Term Care Services

Lifepath Systems has been providing quality residential/long-term care services in Collin County since 1986. All Lifepath Systems' group homes and waiver programs are certified by the State of Texas and provide community living opportunities for people with developmental disabilities.

Each home is located in a residential neighborhood. A variety of accommodations are available, based on individual need.

The consumers attend public school, pre-vocational, vocational programs or are employed in the community based on their individual program plan. Health care services are provided by licensed nurses. Training programs are structured around individual needs and small group participation. Professional staff includes Service Coordinators/Qualified Mental Retardation Professionals (QMRPs), behavior specialists, occupational and physical therapists, audiologists and speech therapists. Physicians who specialize in areas such as neurology, orthopedics, psychiatry and dentistry are available to monitor and provide treatment.

Lifepath Systems is committed to the long-term care that these individuals need and require. Funding is provided by the state through the Medicaid system. Each home/program is inspected at least annually by the Texas Department of Aged and Disability Services.
